

World Peace Stressed At Fifth Annual Forum Held in New York City

Secretary of State Hull, Ambassador at Large Davis, Sir Samuel Hoare, Paris Deputy Reynaud Have Messages.

"MORAL INFLUENCE"

Mrs. Roosevelt, Among Notable Guests, Says, "Greatest Enemy of Women Is War."

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—Voices from London, Paris and Washington brought earnest pleas for world peace as the fifth annual Forum on Current Problems opened in New York today under the auspices of the New York Herald Tribune.

Cordell Hull, Secretary of State; Norman H. Davis, President Roosevelt's Ambassador at Large; Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign secretary; Paul Reynaud, deputy for Paris; Sir Josiah Stamp, director of the Bank of England; Dr. Philip C. Jessup, Professor of International Law at Columbia University, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt were among the speakers.

"We have an opportunity," said Secretary Hull, "to exert an enormous moral influence throughout the world in support of peace. We should exert it, and we are exerting it."

Mr. Davis declared that "with patient, continuous and concerted effort, the causes of war can be reduced and the chances of peace increased."

Sir Samuel Hoare said the lowering of barriers to international trade would promote the cause of peace.

Work For Peace

M. Reynaud said: "Stabilizing peace, repairing the broken threads between nations—that is what we should all work at." Dr. Jessup said nations should try to avoid war, "first by trying to prevent its outbreak, second by keeping it from spreading to the rest of us if it does break out."

The addresses of the British speakers were broadcast from London, that of M. Reynaud from Paris. Secretary Hull spoke from Washington.

Mrs. Roosevelt told the opening session of the forum, which was attended by 3,000 women, that "the greatest enemy of women the world over is war."

Mrs. Roosevelt said women should be cognizant of activities among women in other lands in order "to face a changing world."

"The first principle," she continued, "is that we are all interdependent. * * * War exists not only between nations of conflicting interest but between nations that don't see the underlying inter-relationships and tendencies."

Catherine Anderson, a woman about 20 years old, residing alone, was badly beaten up by two men who forced an entrance to her place. Entrance was gained through a rear window. The men after assaulting the girl, took a ring from her finger and then took a small sum of money which they buried in the place.

A suspect was picked up and was being questioned as to his connection with the crime.

Heiselman's Record

A Series of Editorial Studies of What Mayor Heiselman Has Accomplished in the Past Two Years and Plans for the Future.

No. 4

Improved Service

While other cities throughout the country, caught in the grip of the depression, have been forced to curtail municipal services, Kingston under the administration of Mayor C. J. Heiselman has expanded public service and has accomplished it without sacrifice to any individual resident of the city. Mayor Heiselman has improved the ash and garbage collection system in the city, effecting savings of thousands of dollars which have been diverted to payroll purposes so that as many men have been given employment in the city the past two years as were employed during the boom years.

In some cities it was found necessary to curtail street lighting service, but in Kingston the street lighting system has been expanded and today there is an increase of 45,000 candle-power in the street lights. A contract with the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation insures a similar increase during 1936 and 1937 at no extra cost to the city.

Kingston's police department has been modernized during the past two years and a police radio broadcasting system has been installed and the four patrol cars equipped with radio placed in operation. Since the inauguration of the radio system there has been noticed an increase in the effectiveness of the police service and every street in the city now receives police protection. An example of the efficient service now rendered by the police department was that of the case in which a telephone call a general alarm was sent out over the police radio, and a radio car was on the scene within three minutes. Seventeen minutes later the prisoner had been apprehended and brought to police headquarters.

Both the water and sewer systems in Kingston have been expanded under the Heiselman administration and old and outworn sewer and water pipes have been replaced with new. In many cases water pipes that had been in use for half a century and were found to be inefficient were taken up and replaced with larger pipe. Eleven miles of sanitary and storm water sewers have been built in the past two years, and sewer service has been extended to streets that had never before had sewer facilities.

These are but a few of the major accomplishments of the Heiselman administration and others will be taken up in other articles. It should not be forgotten that while Mayor Heiselman has been giving the city vastly improved municipal service he had also been able at the same time to lop off $4 from the city tax rate this year, giving the heavily-laden taxpayers of Kingston the lowest tax rate in 10 years.

Borah Moyes Against Hilles' Strategy to End Eastern Domination

Washington, Oct. 15 (AP)—The Washington Post says Senator William F. Borah has "moved a step closer toward entering the Republican presidential fight" with the declaration that he intends to do everything he can to rally public sentiment against eastern domination of the party's coming presidential campaign.

A Post correspondent who obtained an interview with the Idaho senator at Boise, said:

"Senator Borah is determined to break up the strategy of Charles D. Hilles, New York Republican national committeeman, and other eastern leaders.

"They are encouraging favorite sons and selection of untested delegates in the hope of being able to negotiate at the convention and pick the candidate. The way to prevent this, Borah believes, is to carry the fight to the public and go to the convention with delegates pledged in presidential primaries."

Whether he will himself be a candidate, the Post correspondent said, Senator Borah declined to indicate. However, it appears to observers here that if no other outstanding figure takes up the challenge to represent the cause of the west, Senator Borah is likely to do so."

The correspondent said Borah had received "numerous" contributions for a presidential campaign, but had returned them. One friend of the senator's estimated that the returned contributions amounted to about $25,000, some of them coming from the east.

Borah displayed impatience, the correspondent said, over the reception given by Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., to the Idahoan's proposal that the issue of monopolies should be a dominant one in the forthcoming campaign.

In his reply, Roosevelt said he did not think monopolies would be the major issue and spoke of governmental spending and high taxes as points to be stressed.

The Post correspondent quoted Borah as saying: "If the American people have to choose between being re-elected by the government and being re-elected by private monopoly, they would prefer to be re-elected by the government. It is idle to cry out against government 'expenditure' unless we are ready to insist upon restoration of competition in private industry."

"They say extravagance ought to be made the issue. You won't get anywhere with that out in this country. That appeals only to a small class. The farmer is getting more of the money from the administration's extravagance and he won't be inclined to listen to anyone against extravagance until he knows what we propose to do with him in the place of it."

Republican Women Rallying

Chicago, Oct. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Robert Lincoln Hoar, director of the women's division of the Republican National Committee, sought today to rally Republican women in the fight against the New Deal with the declaration that the women's division will share in the battle to preserve American institutions and safeguard American ideals.

Knocking Youth Show

Philadelphia, Oct. 15 (AP)—A post guard shot and killed Andrew Abbott, 26, early today as the youth walked into a trap set for holding men participating in a parade in the city.

George Campbell, the guard, said he fired as Abbott, carrying a gun, rushed at him. The other two had no guns.

City Engineer James Norton has received a communication from Philip McGarr, project supervisor of District No. 2, which included Kingston and Ulster county, of the Works Progress Administration, stating that Arthur F. Hallinan of 298 Broadway, has been appointed WPA manager of Ulster county and that all projects must be submitted to him instead of being forwarded to the WPA in Albany as has been the custom.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman on behalf of the city has already filed a list of projects totaling approximately a million and a half dollars with the State WPA. This was done before Mr. Hallinan was appointed county manager, but if there are any new projects proposed they will be filed with Mr. Hallinan.

Mr. Hallinan was city engineer during the Carey administration, and at the time the Democratic-controlled Board of Supervisors illegally ousted County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran. Mr. Hallinan was appointed county superintendent and filed the position until the highest court in the state ordered the Democratic board to reinstate Mr. Loughran.

One More Chance.

Saugus, Mass., Oct. 15 (AP)—Seven school children who refused to salute the American flag in school exercises here have one more chance to do so.

The Saugus school board in a long session voted last night to give the youngsters a second opportunity and at the same time ruled that the pledge of allegiance to the flag must be given at least once a week in the various classrooms. Any pupil refusing to salute the board stated, would be reported to the board for disciplinary action. The seven children declined to salute because, they said, it was against their religious beliefs as members of Jehovah's Witnesses.

4,000 Persons at Work.

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 15 (AP)—More than 4,000 persons, many of them previously on relief, were employed today as sorting and packing of the 1937 crop of Connecticut valley shadegrown tobacco got underway in this vicinity. Besides those already at work, fully 1,500 additional persons are expected to be taken on at the various packing concerns this week. Welfare Superintendent William J. Ryan said the opening of the packing houses will be reflected in a reduction of the number of relief cases in this city. The season will continue for six months.

Asmara, Eritrea, Oct. 15 (Exchange Telegraph)—Marshal Pietro Badoglio of Italy arrived today to take command of the Italian Expeditionary Force in Ethiopia. He will establish his headquarters at Addis.

(At the time Marshal Badoglio's departure from Italy, the Italian government announced he was merely going on an inspection trip of the Italian Expeditionary Force and that there was no question of his replacing Gen. Emilio De Bono as commander of the punitive armies.)

Will Not Tell If Child Was Born of Marriage

St. Louis, Oct. 15 (AP)—Both Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench, member of a prominent Missouri family, and her husband, Dr. Ludwig O. Muench, testified in Circuit Court of Appeals here today but refused to answer when asked if a child ever had been born of their marriage.

Mrs. Muench, recently acquitted on a charge of kidnapping, appeared in court with her husband as two of the respondents in a habeas corpus action brought by Anna Ware, unwed servant girl, who claimed that a baby in the Muench home was her illegitimate son.

The Muenchs announced the birth of a son to them on August 13, a day after the Ware baby was born at the home of a midwife here.

At the time of the event Mrs. Muench, then preparing for her successful defense against a charge she aided in the 1931 kidnapping of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley, wealthy St. Louisian, hailed the birth "as a gift from God in my time of despair."

A short time later the Ware baby disappeared and a St. Louis county grand jury inquiry into its whereabouts resulted in the habeas corpus action.

Mrs. Muench and her husband refused to answer questions concerning the parentage of the child today on the grounds that their testimony might incriminate them in further developments.

Confidential Files Promised

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—Industrial Commissioner Elmer F. Andrews today assured approximately 300,000 employers of the state that information on employment and wages, obtained from them under the terms of the new unemployment insurance law, would be kept confidential.

Some employers had expressed fear, Commissioner Andrews said, that such information might be made public or improperly available to interested parties. "There is no ground for this fear," Mr. Andrews declared. "Disclosure of this information is prohibited by both the provisions of the unemployment insurance act and the method of its administration."

League Requests Embargo On 'Key' Products For Italy

Pushing in first from the north, Italy began the second phase of its invasion of Ethiopia from the south. Arrows at bottom show the approximate locations of the opposing armies as they headed toward each other for an expected major clash. At top are Aksum, sacred city captured without the firing of a shot, and Addis, which has been formally annexed by Italy.

Blood-Stained Instrument of War No Cure For World Ills, Says Hull

Mussolini Expects European Conflict, U. S. Publisher Says

By GEORGE JORDAN

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press) Home, Oct. 15—Fresh from an interview with Premier Mussolini, former Senator Henry Allen of Kansas said today Il Duce appears to have lost hope of avoiding a European conflict.

The former United States Senator, publisher and observer of international affairs, after talking with Mussolini for half an hour late yesterday said:

"Apparently he believes frankly that England means war."

Il Duce told Allen in their interview—the former Senator's second with Mussolini in eight years—that he appreciated America's neutrality in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

Mussolini was described by Allen as in "fine feather," welcoming his army's political successes among Ethiopian tribesmen.

Government spokesmen said Italy counted 20,000 Ethiopians on its side as the Fascist forces went about clinching their control over the northern area of the empire of Haile Selassie.

These warriors who have surrendered to General Emilio De Bono, commander-in-chief of Italy's East African armies, the spokesman said, would be given a chance to vote for Italian domination of Tigre province and against the reign of the Ethiopian emperor.

The reports of African chieftains and priests throwing their influence to the Italian cause contrasted sharply with Italy's fortunes at Geneva, where a decision to apply financial sanctions brought closer a showdown between Italy and the League of Nations.

Mussolini's spokesman insisted he would not worry about sanctions, other than military measures, and that he would remain within the League as long as possible.

Former Senator Allen attributed to Il Duce himself the assertion that Italy would not leave the League unless military sanctions were imposed.

"In spite of the heavy international threat under which he is proceeding, Il Duce impressed me as being probably the calmest ruler in the world today," said Allen.

"Apparently he regards the danger as not so great as it is, and has no domestic problem as far as consolidation of his support among the Italian people is concerned."

"He gave me the feel that he does not hope for avoidance of a European war. He continues to assert he will not leave the League of Nations unless military sanctions are imposed."

Problem of Taxes

Stromberg, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—A solution to the problem presented by the ever increasing number of taxes was sought today at the opening session of the annual convention of three state nursing groups. The groups are the New York State Nurses' Association, the New York State League of Nursing Education and the New York State Association of Public Health Nurses.

One of the most important topics under discussion is "Wages and Hours of Working for a New Nurse Graduate." It is expected a recommendation will be made for compulsory licensing of practical nurses as one step toward reducing the number of nurses in the state.

ITALIAN BOMBING

Italy's Planes Bomb Ethiopian Provinces and Formal Occupation is Taken of Aksum.

By WADE WERNER (Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Genoa, Oct. 15 (AP)—The League of Nations' subcommittee for economic sanctions decided in principle today to recommend an embargo against the shipment into Italy of "key" products materials used in the manufacture of war munitions.

The committee then proceeded to draw up a specific list of products which Premier Mussolini must have if he is to continue the manufacture of armaments and supplies for his forces in East Africa.

The tentative list included: Aluminum, zinc, copper, nickel, tin, coal, wool, manganese and gasoline.

Experts armed with voluminous masses of statistics laid bare the arteries of world trade with Italy and examined into the possibilities of applying tonnage limits to stop the flow of that trade.

Meanwhile a subcommittee of military experts, examined President Roosevelt's list of implements of war and decided to change a few details in definitions of specific arms mentioned in the list upon which the United States has placed an embargo against both Italy and Ethiopia.

At the same time, the League undertook the first practical organization of financial sanctions.

Italian Bombing

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press) Addis Ababa, Oct. 15—Italian airplanes roared in bombing and reconnaissance patrols over northern and Eastern Ethiopia today and Emperor Haile Selassie answered the threat with additional concentrations of thousands of infantrymen.

The Ethiopian government announced that two Italian planes bombed Adaj, near Makale, and that another had bombed troops concentrating at Makale, 60 miles south of Addis. There were no casualties, said the communiqué.

It was also officially announced that reconnaissance planes had flown over the Gota station of the railroad to Djibouti, between Diredda and Washi.

Other Italian planes swooped low over Harar and practically the entire populace there, anticipating bombing, evacuated to the hills or fled to Diredda.

The emperor rushed enormous numbers of warriors to strategic areas to meet the threatened Italian onslaught in the north and south.

Review of Troops

From official sources came the information that more than 150,000 fresh troops, including the fiercest fighters of the empire, will pass through Addis Ababa this week for review by the emperor.

These include 50,000 shock troops under Haile Mulatu, the minister of war and commander-in-chief of the northern forces, arriving here today.

There are also 31,000 men under Ras Getatchew Abata, the Governor of Kafa, whose father was one of the great heroes of the Ethiopian victory of 1896 at Adwa.

There are 40,000 more coming in under the command of Dejazmach Haile Mariam, the Governor of the province of Lokepi, who wears half moon earrings as a sign of his elephant-hunting prowess.

Rich in Gold, Elephants

Mariam is rich in gold and elephants. He has some 20,000 under his command at Addis Ababa.

These warriors are children of the Adwa heroes and are known as fearless fighters. Many of them are so undisciplined that they have been known to loot the League of Nations, airplanes, wireless, tanks, or telephones.

Upon arriving today, some of Mulatu's troops were reported to have looted a building where they were quartered.

"We are at war. What are you doing here?" they exclaimed, apparently chasing all whites with Italian flags.

Their chief, remembering the Emperor's admonition to treat all foreigners kindly, removed these sons of the desert and mountains when they attempted to march through the city to the palace.

Even the Emperor's forces and "fierce" warriors, who were supposed to be disciplined, were reported to have looted a building where they were quartered.

On Oct. 14, Italian planes bombed Addis Ababa and the Emperor's forces were reported to have looted a building where they were quartered.

Albany, Oct. 15.—(Special)—Allocation of $105,000 for upstate New York for writing, art and music projects, was announced today by Lester W. Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes of Kingston called on friends here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo McCune and Miss Vera Wallerstein of New York city spent the week-end in the village center.

Miss Grace Piesbach, a summer visitor to Shokan, was numbered among the many out of town people in the hub of the reservoir country Sunday.

If our exporters do sell war supplies, we hope they won't insist on our government lending the belligerents the money to pay for them.

Quick Turnover

Kennett Square, Pa.—A stranger sauntered through offices of a transportation company and picked up a typewriter while the staff was at lunch.

Outside he sold the typewriter to an employee of the office for $2 and walked away.

College Hazard

Kearney, Neb.—Ethel Matlock, of Minden, Neb., a student at Kearney State Teachers College, was relaxing in her quiet dormitory room. Then, the police records have it, a .22 caliber rifle bullet crashed through a window, struck her on the spine and dropped to the floor.

Ethel was unhurt.

Chicken Trouble

Minneapolis — John Smith, 71-year-old Minneapolis man, objected to his neighbor's chickens running about his yard, he said, but he was patient. It was another matter, however, when the chickens crowded and cackled him out of bed at Daybreak.

Smith filed a complaint in district court asking $1,000 damages from his neighbor, Lillian Hale, and an order directing her to curb the roving poultry.

Needed

Spokane, Wash.—The usual stiff arm is likely to be a sore arm for Whitworth College football players this week.

Two students exposed the college to snailpox. The county physician ordered all unvaccinated students to face the needle. Several bushes who are preparing for a Saturday football game are among the 100 victims.

The Life of a Pet

Springville, Utah—Lawrence Johnson, Jr., 3, was afraid his cat would get hurt, so Mrs. Johnson tried to put it back in the box in which it was riding in the Johnson truck. The machine went over an embankment. Little Lawrence was thrown out and killed.

The cat was unhurt.

Quaint Yorktown, overlooking the broad York River where 154 years ago the French Navy bottled up British forces and hastened the end of the Revolutionary War, will pay tribute to heroes of the struggle for Independence in a two-day celebration beginning October 18. Hundreds of visitors are expected at the patriotic demonstration which comes as the concluding event of Virginia's first Autumn Travel Festival.

'ARMY FLIER' BAILS TO SAFETY

The landing gear of his pursuit plane damaged in a formation takeoff, Lieutenant William Mather, 34th Pursuit group at Birch Field, Conn., was forced to bail out and the plane crash landed to land on its side. At top, Mather is shown with the controls of his plane as the landing gear dangled beneath. Bottom, he descends safely in his parachute as his ship falls to earth and explodes. Low Production Areas In New York State

By DR. ROBERT WHITTEN
(Consultant, New York State Planning Board)

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—In the early settlement of New York state, large areas were cleared and cultivated without thought of the productivity of the soil. The continuous abandonment of farms in areas of low soil productivity since 1850 has resulted in a closer adjustment to the potentialities of the soils. The soils of high productivity have been utilized more intensively for agriculture, while the areas of poor soils are changing to other types of land use, such as forestry and recreation. Recently much work has been done by the Department of Agriculture, New York State College of Agriculture, under the direction of Dr. F. B. Howe, in determining the productivity of different soil types.

These Soils Not So Good

In general, the soils of low productivity are found in the more rugged sections of the Allegheny Plateau and in the Adirondacks and Catskills. The sandy soils of Long Island are likewise of low productivity.

Soils derived from limestone generally have a higher percentage of plant nutrients, and these plant nutrients are made more available as plant food through the presence of lime. Soils derived from sandstone and shales on the other hand, are usually deficient in plant food. The soils of the plateau area are of low productivity for three reasons; they are principally derived from shales and sandstones; they are generally very shallow; and they are often susceptible to "hard pan" development due to poor drainage conditions.

The superiority of civilization over barbarism seems to be mostly in its weapons.

Republicans in Erie Have New Head

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—William J. Hickey, who stood by W. Kingsland Macy when the former Republican state chairman fought and lost in a finish fight with the Old Guard element of the party, has passed from the political picture in Erie county after a series of disastrous elections. He has been given a supreme court nomination.

In his place as Erie county chairman is Edwin F. Jaekle, long one of the strongest men in the party in Buffalo, who is expected to remold the once powerful Erie machine so the Republicans can meet the dominant Democratic organization on even terms.

Jaekle takes charge at a time when the Democrats control almost everything in both city and county. Hickey, long in politics, is expected to be selected a supreme court justice in November. Republican nominations in the Eighth judicial district are considered tantamount to election.

Republican Meeting Held at Saugerties Was Largely Attended

The Republican meeting at Saugerties on Saturday night, held under the auspices of the Republican Club, was largely attended. Clyde F. Gardiner presided. The speakers were Assemblyman J. Edward Conway, Harry H. Flemming, candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court, and Philip Elting, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee.

Assemblyman Conway spoke principally about matters of legislation, both state and national. He presented a very interesting review of the legislation at Albany since both branches of the legislative body became controlled by the Democratic party. He referred particularly to the efforts that have been made to exempt from taxation the water supply plant of the city of New York. For a long period of years New York city has enjoyed exemption so far as the aqueduct is concerned. Of late the city has taken steps toward further exemptions, to be applied to its entire property.

Courts and Judges. Harry H. Flemming spoke particularly concerning the judicial system. He referred to the effect that the decisions of the highest tribunal of the nation have had, particularly in these troublesome times. Mr. Flemming spoke of the high esteem in which the United States Supreme Court is and ever has been held, and the type and character of the men who occupy the bench.

Mr. Flemming then discussed the judicial system of New York State, and the effect of the decisions of the courts of this state. He described the contacts between the Supreme Court Trial Term and the average litigant. He mentioned some of the learned men who have occupied the Supreme Court bench in this district in the past. He spoke particularly of the very efficient and able service rendered by Justice Staley, who was nominated by the Republican party. Mr. Flemming spoke of his own candidacy to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Judge John T. Loughran to the Court of Appeals.

Heavier Taxes in Prospect. County Chairman Philip Elting talked about the financial situation in the nation, the state and in this locality. He referred to the heavy bonded debt, which had been piled up by the national administration. This debt, he said, would carry with it a burden into the succeeding generations. This fact was evidenced by the heavy taxation to which we are now subjected, and the prospect of still greater increases in taxes.

The example thus set at Washington, said Mr. Elting, had been followed at Albany. From the administration of Governor Benjamin B. Odell, when we had no state debt, we have gone under successive Democratic administrations in the past few years to a bonded indebtedness of the state amounting to five hundred million dollars. From a budget of eighty-five million dollars during the last year of Governor Miller's administration, we have climbed to a budget which is now approximately two hundred and fifty million dollars.

The Situation in Ulster County.

This situation concerning debts and taxes, said Mr. Elting, is not confined to the national and state administrations. We had an example of it when the Democrats were in control of the Board of Supervisors for a time, and during that period constructed the Ulster county jail. The county was bonded for $85,000, extending over a period of 25 years. The bonds recently had been paid in full. During that period, more than $10,000 in interest had accrued and had been paid. That was an example of the way in which interest on bonds increases the cost. The heavy debt which Ulster county carried from the Democratic administration in former years was liquidated and paid during the period of time that Republican administrations had charge of the Board of Supervisors.

Two years ago, the Republican Board of Supervisors turned over the county affairs to Democratic control. The Democrats at that time had gained control of the board by a majority of one. With that turnover, there went the sum of $80,000 in cash balance in the general fund of the county. The Democratic board promptly proceeded to spend that sum.

In addition to spending the $80,000 cash balance in the general fund, the Democrats spent the amount raised by taxation. Furthermore, they also borrowed money. They borrowed $100,000 against uncollected taxes of 1934, and yet there is outstanding today no small amount of current indebtedness. It is said that with the current indebtedness and all bills for heating the court house for the winter of 1934-35.

Mr. Elting also spoke about the Democratic candidate for county welfare commissioner, William W. McElhane. Mr. McElhane was highly favored by the Republicans for a number of years. For six years under the Republican administration he held the office which he now seeks on the Democratic ticket. He entered the contest for nomination at the Republican county convention, where he was defeated by the present candidate on the Republican ticket, Robert H. Park. In every election where contests have been made after the convention, the choice of the election has been sustained. Mr. Elting made an appeal to the voters of the county to see to it that in the present instance, every effort be made to bring about the election of the present candidate on the Republican ticket for this office.

Mr. Elting also spoke earnestly concerning the candidates for judicial office. He told of the failure to endorse Justice Staley. He requested that the voters inquire into the ability, experience and standing of both candidates on the Republican ticket for Justice of the Supreme Court, and to do all within their power to see that the choice of the counties within the district outside of Albany is not defeated by the action of the Albany city group.

Commodore Hartley To Address Federation Of Clubs, October 19

The October open meeting of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs will be held on Saturday afternoon, October 19, at 2:30 o'clock in the Sunday School room of the Fair Street Reformed Church. It will be preceded by the executive committee meeting at 3 o'clock.

The speaker at the open meeting will be Commodore Herbert Hartley, former commander of the steamship Leviathan, a man of unlimited experience of unusual and thrilling character and also a man of rare executive ability and withal a most enjoyable speaker.

To be housekeeper for a traveling village of some 5,000, keeping them well and happy for six or seven days, and at the same time to play the role of gracious, understanding, skillful host to the great and the near great so that all should run without friction Commander Hartley found an absorbing task to which he was fully equal.

The social phase of his work made him friends with Will Rogers, Mary Pickford, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Queen Marie of Roumania and many others.

This friend of movie stars, humorists, big game hunters, diplomats and others welcomed them all aboard the mammoth ship of which he was commander and was their host. For 35 years he was at sea and for a number of years of this time commanded one of the largest ships that was ever built.

From this vast experience and with the interesting manner of a sailor telling his favorite sea stories, Commander Hartley has a fund of delightful and entertaining anecdotes to tell his listeners, on Saturday.

All individual members of The Federation are reminded that they are privileged to bring a guest with them to the meeting.

Sergeant York "Is Through"

Fall Mall, Tenn., Oct. 14 (AP).—Sergeant Alvin C. York said today he is through with foreign fighting, but if the United States is attacked, the World War hero declared he will be "sitting right there on the front with my rifle." It was five from his rifle in the Argentine just a little more than 17 years ago—October 8, 1918—that caused General Pershing to describe York as "the greatest civilian soldier of the war." The official records state that "practically unharmed," the tall, red-headed Tennessee raised a machine gun battalion, killing at least 25 Germans and capturing 122 prisoners, including three officers. "Bibbigan is entitled to some assistance from her sister nations around her and some of them should step into the contest," said York. "But it's no affair of ours. I think we ought not to interfere in any other nation's trouble so long as they let us alone."

Breaks Card Party. A card party for the benefit of a crippled boy will be given at the home of Mrs. David Whipple, 44 Liberty Street, Thursday evening at 8:30.

Night School Classes Are Getting Under Way

Registration for night school classes began at the Kingston High School Monday night. It will continue tonight and in fact registrations will be received as long as the school is in session.

But one class got under way Monday night—the Engineers. There is a good bunch in this class and they are taking up engineering problems with a will, with Frederick Gronemeyer as instructor.

The cooking class will start work tonight and all the commercial courses will get under way tonight. The sewing class will start on Wednesday night.

There have been some inquiries as whether there will be a class in public speaking, announcement is made that if there are enough interested such a class will be formed.

Special attention is called to the class in Americanization. It should appeal to many adults who would benefit by attendance on the course. Particularly is this true of those who may have felt some diffidence about taking the literacy test necessary before they can vote. All such are invited to register in the Americanization class.

YOU CAN MAKE THIS YOURSELF, GIRLS

Just to prove again that Marian Martin knows her junior pattern fashions, here's a cocky little two-piece affair in black and white checked wool. Young girls will pounce on it with delight, and show it off through long and strenuous wear! Its special 1935 features are: novel armhole... puff sleeve... front-pleated skirt. The fabric used is new, too—a stuff that's almost unbelievably soft and sheer. You could also make it up in a monotonous wool crepe, novelty wool jersey, or a Scotch plaid. Or get a tricky contrast between blouse and skirt by making one up in solid color—the other, in plaid or check. Sizes 10 to 18.

To get pattern H3601, send 15c to the Kingston Daily Freeman Pattern Department, 232 West 18th Street, New York, N. Y.

CHARMING HAND-MADE ACCESSORIES WILL FRESHEN UP YOUR BEDROOM

MODERNIZE AND BRIGHTEN THE CLOSETS

No skeletons in these good-looking closets! They're the kind of closets a woman wants her friends to look into because they're so gay and efficient.

Nowadays we try to make our closets as attractive as the rooms to which they belong. The decorative plan can begin with the walls. Paint them to harmonize or contrast with your bedroom.

Closets with pale green walls would be lovely in a bedroom done in peach. Or use prettily patterned wall-paper. If this is given two coats of shellac, the walls can easily be kept clean by wiping them with a damp cloth.

Lovely and colorful accessories for closets include many things you can do yourself. Edge the shelves with pleated chintz. Cover hat boxes with easily patterned paper. Make dress bags the new way—of glazed chintz, and edged with glazed chintz for the back because it's strong and dust-proof. Translucent oiled silk for the front. Cover hanging rods with velvet or velveteen so dresses will not slip off.

How to Make Hat Covers. Hat covers are also practical and our diagrams show how easy it is to make them. Use the stiff Argentine cloth. Cut a straight strip a little more than the length of measurement around the hat you want to cover. Fold into four sections. Cut and sew as shown in the diagrams. Finish with a binding of colored tape.

Shoes must be given special attention in the closet. If they're left on the floor they collect dust, get out of shape and make it difficult to clean the closet. Metal shoe racks fastened on the closet door, as shown in our sketch, make fine shoe holders. Or, if you want to add a bit more color to your closet, have shoe bags of cretonne or glazed chintz.

Useful Hints. Our 10-page Home Institute booklet, HAND-MADE FOR THE MODERN HOME, has directions for making many lovely things for the bedroom. It also has directions for smart and useful hats. Other useful contents:

FALL RALLY OF RONDOUT VALLEY S. S. ASSOCIATION

The Sunday school of Alligerville Reformed Church entertained the Rondout Valley Sunday School Association for its fall rally at the Reformed Church at High Falls on Friday evening. Although the weather was rainy more than 250 people were present.

The prelude was rendered by Miss Mary Stein. After the invocation by the Rev. Perry Van Dyke of Ellenville the hymn, "Come We That Love the Lord," was sung. The Rev. Ben Scholten of Accord read the scripture and prayer was offered by the Rev. C. Chilton of Hurley.

The Rev. Clarence Howard, pastor of High Falls and Alligerville Reformed churches, welcomed the guests and said it was a great pleasure and very easy for him to welcome such a large audience for it was seldom he had the opportunity only on Christmas and Easter. He felt that the association met the needs of the life of the young people as Christians are needed as never before.

The president, Roy Ransom, gave the response. A solo, "O Divine Redeemer," by Gounod, was very beautifully rendered by Miss Gertrude De Puy with Mrs. L. D. Sahler at the organ.

The reports of the secretary and treasury were read and accepted as read by the assistant secretary.

The Rev. Howard suggested that as the treasury had $50, some of it be expended for a missionary cause and no society could thrive that worked merely for its own existence. Other suggestions were made and it was decided the president appoint a committee to investigate and act in spending a part of the money for a worthy cause.

Mrs. Dixon made a motion that $25 be given to the president to defray the expense connected with his visiting the various Sunday schools. The motion was seconded and passed.

The committee on a religious training school of which the Rev. Roscoe Strivings is chairman was given power to make all plans and set date for such school.

The president appointed the following committees: Place Committee, Elmer Van De Mark of Kerhonkson, Mrs. Claude Palen of Hurley and Harvey Conner of Kripplush; Resolution Committee, the Rev. Perry Van Dyke and L. D. Sahler.

The roll call of schools was called by the assistant secretary.

The junior sermon given by the Rev. Russell Young on "Standing With the Stickers" was most interesting and helpful to the older people as well as the juniors.

The address of the evening was given by the Rev. Raymond Drucker, secretary of Sunday schools and young people's work of the Reformed churches in America.

The Rev. Mr. Drucker gave a most inspiring message on "The Teaching of Religion to Attain Christian Standards."

Through years of experience, he said, he has learned that religion can be taught and that the development of a Christian conscience comes through the teaching of religion. Religion must be taught for the sake of the home, state, church and young people. Mr. Drucker said he considered it an insult to the child's mind to say they are too young to be taken to church since they cannot understand the sermon. He took his son to a beautiful church where the music was wonderful and coming home he asked the son what he enjoyed most of the service and much to his surprise the boy replied "The sermon when the minister told about Jesus in Gethsemane and the 'horror bush'."

The offering was taken and reports of committees were read. The chairman of the place committee invited the association to Kerhonkson N. Y. Church for their meeting in February. The attendance banner was won by Kerhonkson Reformed Church of which Charles Bell is superintendent. Hurley Reformed Church was second in attendance. The meeting closed by singing "My Life and Let It Be." A social hour was enjoyed and delicious homemade cake and ice cream were served by Alligerville Sunday School.

Today's Cable Briefs By Associated Press

Newport Monmouthshire, England—More than 2,000 strikers were underground in pits in England and Wales today as the outgrowth of a "stay-down" strike of 150 employees of the Nine-Mile Point colliery here. More than 1,500 miners in the South Wales district went underground in sympathy with the Nine-Mile Point strikers, who are protesting employment of non-union laborers.

Liege, Belgium—Gen. Teclé Harvart, former Ethiopian delegate to the League of Nations and one of his country's leading military strategists, established headquarters today in a local hotel. Soon after his arrival, he made visits through the Liege district, the center of the Belgian arms, ammunition, chemical, and gas factories.

Tokyo—Addressing an audience which included famous Japanese proponents of an aggressive imperial policy, American Secretary of War George H. Dern of Utah declared today, "President Roosevelt's good neighbor policy is in force in regard to our relations with Japan and other countries of the Far East, as elsewhere."

London—Thirty-three members of the crew of the French three-masted schooner Les Deux Freres were reported missing today after the vessel sank in the Atlantic off the coast of France.

Cristobal, Canal Zone—Four United States navy seaplanes took off from Coco Solo at 8:15 a. m. today on a flight to Norfolk, Va. Their pilots expect to reach their destination Monday.

Paris—United States Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau conferred for 45 minutes today with Premier Pierre Laval, but insisted he was paying "purely personal calls" on French officials. He will sail for home tomorrow on the Normandie.

Nanking, China—American consular authorities tried today to solve the puzzle of the death of Dr. Susan Waddell, on the police statement that the woman, a former resident of Berkeley, Calif., had been slain. Her bruised body was found in a ditch with marks on the throat indicating strangulation. She apparently was killed some time before last midnight.

Fire Prevention Week, which began as an annual national event during the Wilson administration, has been productive of much good. It has lessened the toll of lives that fire takes each year. It has saved millions of dollars worth of property from destruction. But, in spite of this splendid record, the results obtained have been far less imposing than they should have been.

RAISES SHEEP FOR FUR, NOT FOR WOOL

Texas Rancher Makes Success of Karakul Species.

Dander, Texas—Raising sheep that bear fur, not wool, constitutes the hobby of Alex Albright, seventy-three-year-old Archer county stock breeder, who owns the only herd of karakul sheep of commercial consequence in the whole United States. And from that herd of Asiatic sheep he each year sends to Eastern markets thousands of dollars' worth of fine fur.

The history of this unusual industry dates back thousands of years. The karakul-fur bearer is an ancient member of the sheep family. History recounts that conquering tribes came into the independent kingdom of Bokhara, bordering on old Russia, thousands of years ago, bringing their sheep with them. Archaeologists have dug up mummies buried for 3,000 years that were found to be wearing this lamb's fur—in perfect condition.

Regard Sheep as Sacred.
The breed takes its name from the little town of Karakul, not far from the Aral sea, in Turkistan, Asia. For centuries the fur of the sheep grown in this little primitive community was known to traders and furriers the world over as the finest to be obtained. The pure karakuls were found only on the ranches of the Bokharan noblemen. Mixed breeds are found throughout that part of Asia, the Afghans, the Astrachans and the Krimmers. The Mahometan tribes of Bokhara have a sacred regard for these full-blooded karakuls. They guard them jealously, and this fact, together with the knowledge that the karakul breed is rapidly becoming extinct in their domain, caused extraordinary difficulties when it was first proposed to transplant a flock of the sheep to America.

The flock which Dr. C. C. Young brought to Texas in 1908 was the first full-blooded karakul sheep ever taken out of the Province of Bokhara and out of Russia. That flock of 15 head was brought to Hollday, Texas, also in Archer county, not far from Mr. Albright's present ranch. Doctor Young's personal knowledge of the people with whom he was dealing went a great way toward his ultimate success in carrying out his plans.

Albright Takes Hold.
Dr. Young did not continue his experiment long and Mr. Albright took up the project of raising the fur-bearing sheep. It was 25 years ago that Alex Albright made his first effort to import karakul stock into the United States in order to bring new blood to his then small flock. He, too, found that he must overcome the import laws of his own country first, then break down the shyness of the herdsmen of Bokhara, who recoiled from the idea of allowing their sheep to be taken to foreign lands.

"When I say that raising karakul sheep is the most profitable industry the stockmen could enter I have only to state a few facts," Mr. Albright said. "Ordinary wool is now bringing around 20 cents a pound, and has not greatly varied from that figure in a year. As my invoice shows, last June 15, I sold on the New York market 22 karakul pelts at $2,346.12 net to me. That alone clearly substantiates my claim that 100 good fur-producing ewes can show more profit than a thousand head of any other breed of sheep. Karakul lamb pelts for fur must be taken the first three or four days after birth."

Germany's Latest Naval Weapon Is "Death Boat"

Kiel, Germany—Germany's latest naval war weapon—the "death boat"—made its first public appearance here during the maneuvers of the Reich's fast-growing navy.

The "death boats," so named because they not only can deal death rapidly but also because their crews brave death with little chance of escape, are combination torpedo-speedboats recently perfected and reported capable of reaching a speed of more than 60 knots.

Each of the small speedboats is equipped with a deadly torpedo and all are based on a "mother ship" filled with torpedoes and fuel. The naval strategy of the "death boats" in warfare is to rush right up to enemy warships, discharge their torpedoes, point blank and then speed away—if they can—from under the guns of the attacked craft.

Farmer Cures Storm; Lightning Kills Him

Weimer, Texas—Benny Hubbard, tenant farmer, stood under a tree, cursing because a thunderstorm prevented a trip to town.

"Don't do that," his young son said. "Something's liable to happen to you." Hubbard continued cursing.

A bolt of lightning struck the tree. Hubbard was killed and the boy injured seriously.

Model Soviet Plane Makes 7-Mile Flight

Moscow—What is claimed to be a world record for flight by model airplane was established by Valya Kuznetsov at a recent aviation show.

The miniature plane ascended to a height of 2,000 feet and was seen for 22 minutes. After this it was lost from view. The boy who took off to look for it found it two days later, undamaged, seven miles from the starting point.

Dogs Guarded to Rochester.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—Dogs were carefully guarded by their owners here today as police and Humane Society officials sought a person believed responsible for the poison deaths of eight pups in the last week. In additional several rats were found poisoned. All the deaths occurred in one neighborhood, police said.

Series of Pamphlets May Go to CCC Camps

Washington, Oct. 15 (AP)—"American Primers," a series of Rockefeller-financed pamphlets on national questions, may find their way into Civilian Conservation Corps camps after all.

When "You and Machines," first volume of the series, was published some time ago, CCC officials declined to meet the cost of printing copies for their charges. It was indicated that they thought this booklet too gloomy.

Now that the rest of the "primers" have been issued by the University of Chicago press, however, government purchase of some of them for camp libraries is under consideration.

"Business and Government," one of the pamphlets, reviews the history of business and asks:

"What now? What will be the new relations of government and business? One thing seems certain. We don't go back to the hands-off policy. 'We abandoned that,' said former President Hoover, 'when we adopted the ideal of equality of opportunity—the fair chance of Abraham Lincoln.' The question is not 'Control versus no control.' It is rather, 'How much control, and of what kind? And who's going to do the controlling?'"

This pamphlet also presents a humane man's argument that government's duty is that of a policeman rather than business partner. It contains criticism of some phases of

NRA but concludes that "the ever widening scope of business operations has made necessary national control."

"New legislation acceptable to the supreme court may be framed," it says, "or it may be a constitutional amendment will be necessary."

The booklets were prepared under a grant from the General Education Board, a Rockefeller foundation. Dr. Percy W. Hildwell of the University of Buffalo was the editor.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAYTON E. JACOB

HIGH FALLS

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—Selective buying in the industrial, communications and specialties kept bullish three afloat in today's stock market.

The list weathered heavy profit taking in the first hour with gains ranging from fractions to several points. The ticker tape fell in a series of blocks of several thousand shares changed hands at the start of dealings. Many new high for the year or longer were recorded. There apparently was as much short covering as fresh short selling.

After the initial rush, the activity slowed perceptibly. The utilities, rails and steels were inclined then to do little more than mark time. Shares of Western Union jumped 3 points. Air Reduction got up 6. Loews, up about 2, was an active performer. Chrysler forged ahead more than a point, along with Auburn, Electric Auto-Lite and Spiegel-May-Stern. Fractional improvement was registered by Radio Preferred B, American Telephone, Case, Westinghouse, du Pont, Johns-Manville, Sears, Roebuck and Montgomery Ward. Although Union Pacific recovered a point, the other carriers were virtually unchanged. American Can was heavy. The metal market sagged. The eight month report of American Telephone, disclosing net income equivalent to $4.28 a share compared with $3.85 in the same 1934 period, seemingly was in line with expectations. The fact that the Bell System disclosed a gain of 297,000 telephones in the first nine months of this year was pleasing to followers of the communications group.

VICKI CHEMICAL COMPANY

LAUDS NEWSPAPER ADS

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 15.—An impressive statement regarding the value of newspaper advertising was made today to press representatives by Lunaford Richardson, president of Vicki Chemical Company (makers of Vicki VapoRub and other specialized aids for home control of colds).

After signing orders for fall and winter advertising of his company, Mr. Richardson made the following statement:

"Newspapers again this year, as for many years in the past, carry the largest per cent of our 1935-36 advertising budget."

"For years the major portion of our advertising behind Vicki products has been via newspapers."

"We have always placed newspapers at the top of our list because each paper represents an established institution in its community, and a newspaper talks to readers in their own language, about things of daily interest in the home."

"It is only natural then that we should place so much reliance upon newspapers, talking to those homes about greater freedom from colds—a subject of pressing interest to almost every family."

"Of course the biggest advertising behind Vicki is—and always has been—the recommendations of its users—enthusiastic comments passed on by friend to friend and neighbor to neighbor. In fact, this 'word-of-mouth' advertising bulks so large that we have never successfully proved anything in the way of comparative pulling power of different media. But based on past experience, it is our belief that newspapers do the best job for us in carrying reminders to old users and getting new users to give Vicki medications a trial."

Suppose you were rich. The taxes would trim you a plenty. Then you'd have to worry about kidnappers.

Mrs. Peck—Henry, do you think we are prepared for war?
Henry (in alarm)—Why? Is your mother coming to visit us again?

You can always tell a moron. He thinks something rotten is great stuff because a famous fellow did it.

The returned Alaskan explorer was explaining the risks and inconveniences of the far north to a friend who had just received an appointment to make a sociological survey of all Eskimo and white settlements along the polar rim of the continent.

Explorer—And you'll find no luxurious hotel accommodations there, either. Mostly you'll sleep in huts and igloos; and when you do strike a settlement with a lodging-house, it's always some old wooden shack, alive with bed-bugs.

Friend (kneeling)—Gee whiz! And the nights six months long.

A suggested slogan to get in shape for next year: "Let's hope for a perfect '36."

Office Seeker—Does anything else come with the job besides the salary?

Political Boss—Well, there's a little work connected with it.

Office Seeker—I was afraid there would be some catch in it.

Responsibility is avoided and evaded by many but there is nothing that will cause a man to grow more than responsibility fairly met.

One afternoon on the veranda of a hotel a beautiful young woman and her little six-year old son sat near a man. The little fellow trotted over to the man who patted him on the head inquiring: "What's your name?" After he was told, he blipped: "Is you married?" "No, I'm not," was the reply. Then the child paused a moment and turning to his mother said: "Mother, Dear, what else did you tell me to ask him?"

Toni—I'd face a dragon in order to win that girl, just as the knights in the olden days.

Jack—Well, you may have to. You haven't seen her mother yet.

A humorist with a comical face has a 50 per cent lead over one who hasn't.

PWA Artist—My object was to express in a single painting all the horrors of war.

Onlooker—Well, you've done it. I've never seen anything so horrible.

Most everyone has more or less of a knack for doing something. But so frequently, it is something for which there isn't any demand.

Dolly—How in the world does she ever get any money out of that husband of hers?

Mabel—Oh, she just tells him she is going back to her mother, and he hands her train fare.

"Backward, turn backward, Oh, Time in your flight, Make me a child again, just for tonight."

Once said a Scotsman—and Scotsmen are right.

"I'm leaving tonight on a rail trip to Arr—"

Make me a child and I'll travel half fare."

Mother—I can't tell whether Ezra is dead or only sleeping.

Father—Well, make the alarm clock go off and if he wakes up it'll prove he is dead. He never would wake up when he was alive.

Mother—Now, Henry, look at your dirty hands. And it was only a half an hour ago that you washed them.

Henry—Yes, mother. I can't understand it but your washing stays on ever so much longer than mine does.

A teacher asked a seven-year-old girl what a bridegroom was. "Please teacher," was the reply, "it's a thing they have to have at weddings."

SAMSONVILLE, OCT. 15.—Alfred Woolfrey and wife of Montgomery visited Samsonville on Sunday. Mr. Woolfrey is the grandson of S. Samson, who owned and operated the tannery in this place a number of years ago. Mrs. Woolfrey is a cousin of Mrs. Frank N. Davis.

A hot chicken supper will be served in the hall Wednesday, October 16, at 6 p. m. Other refreshments on sale. All are invited.

Floyd Bremer and son, Ross J. and Kenneth M., called on Mrs. Mary J. Bremer on Sunday.

PUFFY

"Oh, look! Puffy children, how the breeze down there!"

They look just like cats, we're no luck in the air."

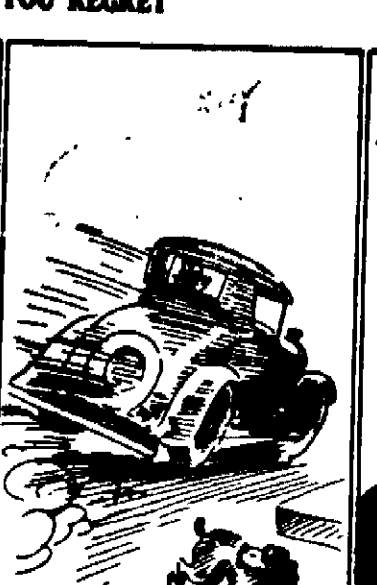

The monkey looks out, then he mutters: "My word!"

Then, just as you are as a pleasant bird."

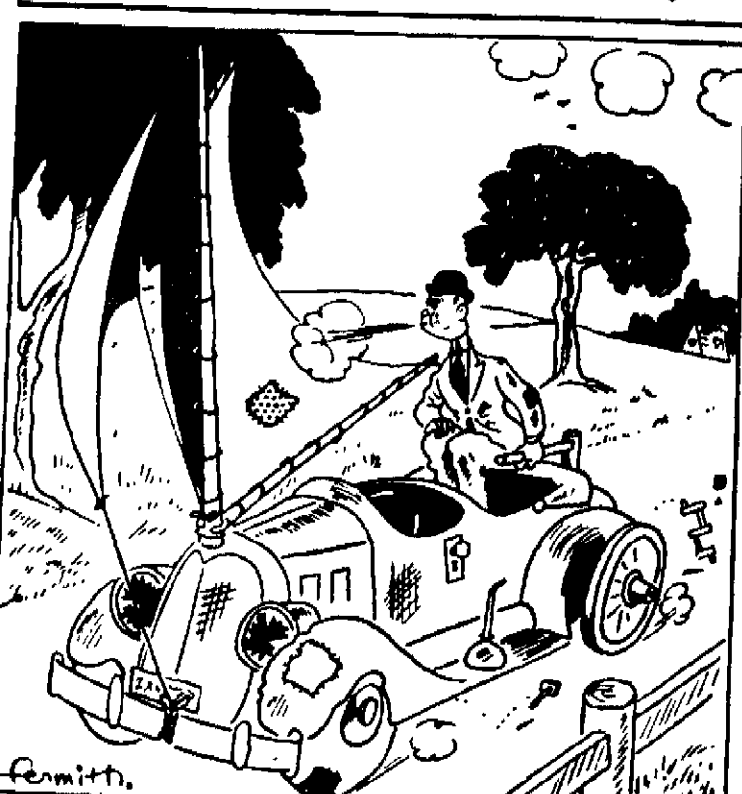

HEM AND AMY

ACTIONS YOU REGRET

Inspect Your Car Regularly

Year by year the deadly traffic toll reaches new peaks. In the thick of the battle to reduce this loss of life are state Motor Vehicle Administrators. Twelve of them, officers and members of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, have contributed a series of articles describing the major causes of automobile accidents. Number Eleven in the series: "Inspect Your Car Regularly" follows:

By JOHN Q. RHODES
Director, Motor Vehicle Department of Virginia, Member of American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators

THE motorist who does not keep his car in good mechanical condition is usually a menace to automobile safety. More than 78,000 motor vehicles involved in accidents in this country last year had mechanical defects, according to statistics compiled by a member company of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. This indicates a widespread negligence on the part of the motoring public. An automobile cannot be maintained by gas and oil alone. It requires regular care and inspection. This is the one way to prevent such dangerous deterioration as inadequate brakes, defective lighting, or tires in poor condition. Special equipment is important too. For instance, last year the drivers of over 21,000 vehicles involved in accidents on slippery roads had not taken the proper precaution of putting on tire chains.

No one would care to admit that he was careless enough to endanger the lives and persons of others. Yet that is what you do when you take a car with faulty brakes on the road, or commit some similar thoughtless act. It is agreed that automobile manufacturers today employ all their resources of mechanical ingenuity to incorporate safety into their products. It is up to the owner to maintain that safety factor.

The importance of keeping your car in good condition is obvious. You hold up the money value of your car. You maintain the economic driving efficiency of your car. You safeguard your car and yourself from accident. You fulfill your obligations to your fellow motorists.

POLITICS at Random

THE fall crop of 1936 election predictions is so abundant that it seems appropriate to recall how little these long-range forecasts have amounted to in the past.

A year or so in advance it is customary for each party to begin announcing that the election is won. Why this is done so consistently must remain a mystery to the layman, particularly as both sides invariably follow up their assuring words with renewed outbursts of campaigning.

There is reason to doubt whether anyone is greatly deceived by the process. Obviously both parties cannot be right, and the reader of the manifesto is left exactly where he was before—free to do his own guessing.

It must be apparent to even the dullest that a great deal can happen in national politics in a year, or even a much shorter space of time.

It is generally believed that William Jennings Bryan was turned back from the Presidency in '96 in the final month of the campaign; and two distinguished Republicans—James G. Blaine and Charles Evans Hughes—are supposed to have forfeited victory within a matter of days before the polls were opened.

Yet all the time both sides were claiming it was all over but the shouting.

View One-Sided

THE special hazards of making forecasts about what will happen in November, 1936, also should be easy to see.

For one thing, unlike many other presidential years, 1936 permits of only a one-sided preview. It seems pretty well agreed Mr. Roosevelt will be the Democratic candidate, and that he will campaign for the "new deal." Who the Republican candidate will be nobody pretends to know, nor is there any assurance for what principles he will stand.

A third party now appears unlikely to develop, although that possibility alone surely forecloses any hard-and-fast conclusions at this stage of the proceedings.

A new session of congress meets in January, and it is proverbial that the session preceding an election often has much to do with making the issues.

In particular, a new budget must be submitted and passed. No one would deny that a great deal depends on which way the administration turns with respect to relief and unemployment, and spending in general.

If only these elements of uncertainty were considered the task of making a dependable prediction would be hard enough. It might possibly be done by a shrewd guesser, but there remains at least three other complications, the outcome of which no man can be certain about.

Recovery Trend Vital

FIRST of all there is the question what course the present recovery trend will take. Every practical politician knows it will make a vast difference whether, in the closing months of the campaign, the country is riding the crest of an engulfing business boom, or sinking deeper into depression.

Secondly, there is the question of the supreme court. Its decisions during the present term may settle issues which have come to have the highest political importance, or may create new issues so fundamental that both sides will have to recast their entire strategy accordingly.

Finally, there is the war in Africa. Who would have supposed in 1934, when Austria and Serbia quarreled, that the presidential campaign of 1936 in the United States would turn almost completely on issues growing out of the reverberations of that little war? Who knows what questions of neutrality may now arise to blanket 1936 and relegate to secondary place all of the domestic issues which seem so large today?

In any ordinary campaign, any one of these three elements of uncertainty would be sufficient to call into question all predictions made a year ahead. The year 1936 will be a good year to "wait and see."

Jefferson Invoked "Sanctions" in 1807

Washington, Oct. 15 (AP).—President Thomas Jefferson more than a century ago invoked "sanctions" far more rigorous than those planned against Italy in the Ethiopian crisis.

In 1807, when the United States was a small nation, Great Britain and France were at war—a combat which did not end until Napoleon's overthrow at Waterloo.

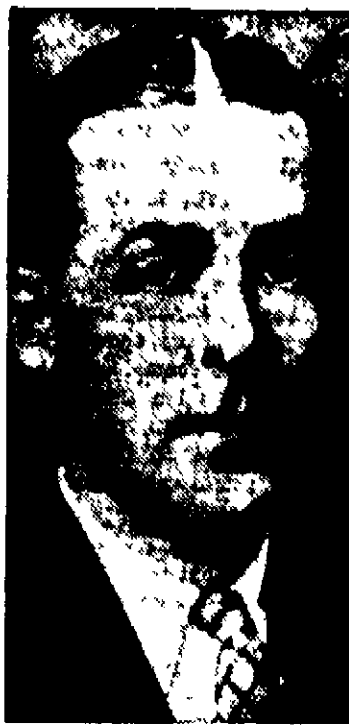

In the throes of the gigantic struggle, both combatants had issued decrees aimed at American commerce. Jefferson sought to vindicate America's commercial rights without going to war.

Unlike the 1935 American neutrality act, which bars only the shipment of war supplies to Italy and Ethiopia, Jefferson's attack on the problem was an embargo which, for nearly a year and a half, prevented American ships even from leaving port.

In proposing the embargo, Jefferson was motivated by British and French decrees which subjected American ships and goods to capture and confiscation should they be suspected of aiding the enemy. Jefferson hoped the belligerents' need for American goods would force them to give way.

But the embargo failed. Henry Adams, writing in his history of the United States, remarked that "as an engine of coercion," the embargo "needed a long period of time to produce a decided effect."

Partridge and Squirrel Hunting Season Opens Today

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP).—New York state's deer, squirrel, grouse and partridge hunting season opened today with all indications of an "abundant" supply of game.

The hunters took to the woods and fields with the assurance of Conservation Commissioner Lithgow. Osborne added, "nature will."

Deer are reported plentiful and squirrels abundant as a result of the squirrel migration from New England.

Gray squirrels have been very much in evidence in this section for a month or two past, many of them having been seen by the city, while numbers of them have met their death along the highways. Hunters were busy all this morning, reporting the crop that Commissioner Osborne talks about and undoubtedly many of them returned home with a bumper crop awaits the lucky hunter.

"If the sportsman doesn't harvest it, apt to be pulled in by a big one."

Slayer of Girl Dies In Illinois Prison

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 15 (AP).—Gerald Thompson, who embraced the Roman Catholic religion in the last few days of his life, was executed in the electric chair today for the murder of Mildred Hallmark, 19, of Peoria.

As one of his last acts, he issued a strange, rambling statement, declaring himself ready to die and urging all to turn to religion for solace and guidance.

He was strapped to the chair at 12:15 a. m. (central standard time) and was pronounced dead officially one minute and 40 seconds later.

The 26 year old convicted slayer was comforted during his last hours by the Rev. Fr. Eligius Weir, Catholic chaplain of the penitentiary, and the Rev. Dr. M. P. Sammon of Peoria.

His final words to the guards who walked the "last mile" with him to the death house were, "I hold no malice toward anyone; I forgive everybody. I'm sorry for all my sins and may God have mercy on my soul and accept me."

Among the witnesses at the execution was John Hallmark, father of the girl whose body was found in a Peoria cemetery after she had accepted Thompson's offer to drive her home on the rainy night of June 17. The father said, "the family is satisfied. We would have taken nothing less."

Yesterday afternoon Thompson was visited by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson; his mother, Mrs. Florence Whiteside; his stepfather, Charles Whiteside, and his brother, Victor, an inmate of the penitentiary to which he was sentenced for a sex crime.

Thompson was calm as he told them goodbye. He said he was surprised that he kept his nerve. He was bolstered at the end by a letter from a young woman who urged him to "be game and trust in God."

Some Interesting Intersectional Games Scheduled This Week

New York, Oct. 15 (AP).—This week's intersectional football games present some food for thought for those who like to pick the winners.

Some of them look easy, such as Boston College-Michigan State and Louisiana State-Arkansas, but others, such as Notre Dame-Pitt, Detroit-Catholic University and Fordham-Vanderbilt, appear to be a toss-up.

Boston College, drubbed 19-0 by Fordham, appears to be no match for the powerhouse of Michigan State which has overwhelmed Grinnell, Michigan and Kansas State, and the record of Louisiana State looks far more impressive than that of Arkansas.

Louisiana State lost to Rice 10-7, but that was no disgrace. It came back to beat Texas 18-6 and flatten Manhattan 32-0, delaying the upward surge to Chick Meehan and his boys.

Arkansas, on the other hand, has been beaten by both Texas Christian and Baylor, although only by two touchdowns to one in each case.

Whether Elmer Layden can guide this year's edition of the Irish by Pittsburgh, an old and worthy foe, is a matter of grave speculation.

Both teams undefeated.

Notre Dame is undefeated, with Kansas, Carnegie Tech and Wisconsin strewn in its wake, but Pittsburgh is undefeated too.

Waynesburg, Washington and Jefferson and West Virginia, its victims. Notre Dame has beaten a higher class of opposition but that doesn't tell next Saturday's story.

Gus Dorais has a likely looking team at Detroit, having smothered Central State Teachers and Haskell and beaten Oklahoma A and M 13-0 but Catholic University is on the way up. Catholic beat LaSalle 41-7 and then took Duquesne 6-0.

Fordham, despite the fact Purdue walloped it 20-0, doesn't figure to be a set up for Vanderbilt. The Fordham team came out of the Purdue game with numerous injuries but it will be a fighting band that Jim Crowley will lead on to the field.

Vanderbilt has defeated Mississippi State 14-9 and lost to Temple 6-3. Minnesota, having stopped Nebraska, faces Tulane, which lost to Auburn 10-0 but which defeated Florida 13-7 and Virginia Military Institute 44-0. Little Centenary faces a big task in wrestling with Texas, which lost to Louisiana State 18-6 and beat both Oklahoma and Texas A. and I.

Syracuse had a tough time getting by Cornell in its last start, but the record of its week-end opponent, Ohio Wesleyan, is nothing startling. Wesleyan has been beaten by Dayton and although it hung up a score of 49-0 against Heidelberg, Miami (Ohio) held it to an 8-0 score.

Georgetown, beaten by a good Albright team, plays Miami (Fla.) which last Friday beat Southeastern Louisiana 2-0.

Whether Henry Kurtyka will join the club is still a mystery. The old ball hawk of last year's club has been with the Patterson Trucking Company which needs him right now and cannot give him time off to work out with the team.

Ryland Johnston of Eron, N. C., has been in Kingston more than a year doing preliminary work in connection with the professional football season, has expressed interest for the opening of the training period, which starts Thursday, October 17.

This business of getting things set up for basketball is no joke," said "Of course, I don't mind especially in Kingston where I've received lots of cooperation, after I've done just so much in business as I just want to get with the team."

Morgenweck, besides being a professional promoter, is really and truly what sports writers call a "football nut." He loves the game, is always out to win and wants the best men on his club. This counts for the splendid representation Kingston has had in the professional world under the direction of Morgan.

This year's squad will roll into Kingston tomorrow. Charlie Huston will be the first arrival if he lives up to the routine of past seasons. Huston is the first to get into town, have a chat here and there with friends before he starts the training. Carlie spent the summer at home in Egg Harbor, N. J., and on a motor trip to Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Cleveland, Ohio. He played basketball with teams from both these big cities.

Bill Hamilton is also expected to arrive early. The Philadelphia, Pa., player underwent an operation for pneumonia, worked for the greater part of the summer as a lifeguard and is in excellent physical shape for basketball, Morgan says.

A young fellow by the name of Burns, who also hails from Egg Harbor, will arrive shortly after Huston to take part in the workouts. Morgenweck will keep a keen eye on him to see how he works. Another newcomer, but a seasoned player, "Red Horse" Meyers, will probably arrive Thursday. He comes from Wayne, where he played with Huston and Frank Shimek.

Shimek, who has stayed in Kingston since the close of last season, defied his time to go to Whitwick, Pa., with Wesley Van Benschoten, state hockey star, and Hank Osterud, one of Kingston's leading men on the fairways, is in mid-season in right now.

Frankie works out at the Y. M. C. with Bobby Cullum, one of the team's rookies, and shoots baskets in the same deadly accuracy that he has shown in the American League this season.

In speaking of "Horse" Meyers, Shimek said the Fort Wayne tosser would help Kingston a lot. He has been along with experience. In 1930 he played with the Fort Wayne team that won the championship of the American League.

Meyers is 28 years old, weighs 180 pounds and is 6 feet tall.

Corby Stanton will come in from Connecticut Thursday. This youngster, who joined Kingston late last season, is looked upon by Morgan as a player who is one of the best players that has turned up in a long time, and has all the requisites of a great player.

Whether Henry Kurtyka will join the club is still a mystery. The old ball hawk of last year's club has been with the Patterson Trucking Company which needs him right now and cannot give him time off to work out with the team.

JONES HAS PUT OKLAHOMA U. ON A 'BIG TIME' BASIS WITH CHARGING MACHINES, WATER CARTS AND ALL THE TRIMMINGS.

OKLAHOMA'S 'ALL-BIG-SIX' FULLBACK

OKLAHOMA UNIVERSITY'S NEW COACH, 'BIF' JONES

Biff Jones is frank to say that Oklahoma coaching job is the hardest he ever faced. But also declares in the very next breath that it is the most pleasant. He doesn't have nearly the material he had at Army and Louisiana State. Against Nebraska, Texas and Kansas State he backs three teams with plenty of strength. He is bound to lose some games this fall. But after he gets his system installed, the average should rise.

Even before Oklahoma had seen his Sooners play, the whole state "cottoned" to him. Last summer he traveled all over the state speaking to and getting acquainted with friends and alumni. Mobs greeted him everywhere, even had bands in some cities, turning out in shirt sleeves and mopping their necks in the broiling July heat just to see and hear Jones.

Installs Business Measures

The first thing Jones did was to busy himself with the task of completely overhauling Oklahoma's crumbling athletic plant and equipment. Thanks to Biff the Sooners now have big league training equipment—scrimmage machines, charging sleds, a water wagon, whirlpool baths, etc. Also he put the school's athletic finances into business-like order, cutting expenses and facilitating the whole plan. He has shown everyone that he has sound, progressive ideas about business as well as football. He is athletic director at Oklahoma and has really put his house in order.

Although Jones' material is not so promising (the Sooners won only three of their nine games last season), the player morale is soaring. The Sooners like Biff and his gruff but good-natured Army discipline. They are hustling their heads off for him. They smack into the charging machines as though they were trying to tear them apart. They like Biff's new assistants, too—Tom Stidham, line coach, who was with Dick Hanley at Northwestern for eight years, and Robert "Doc" Erskine, backfield coach, for the past two years head coach at Loyola of the south at New Orleans.

No Intrusions

One thing is certain. Biff will have no trouble keeping friends, fans, parents and fraternity brothers of his Oklahoma players out of the dressing room. Naturally, everybody remembers his classic expulsion of Huey Long. The Sooners will have the dressing room all to themselves this year.

Oklahoma hasn't had a championship team since 1920, the year Benny Owen developed his undefeated aggregation that swept to the Missouri Valley conference title. But that was 15 years ago and since then Sooners teams, while they have been fighters and occasionally scored upsets, have played only about .500.

Incidentally, Jones' life-time coaching record, covering the seven years he spent at Army and L. S. U., is 50 games won, 13 lost, and 7 tied for a percentage of .793. Roughly, his teams averaged three touchdowns per game to their opponents' one.

TIPS ON CONTRACT

Trump Coup.

Bunched adverse trumps that cannot be captured by finesse because of lack of trumps in one hand of the contracting partnership, at times may be trapped by forcing the holder to ruff when he has nothing left but trumps.

This coup requires the elimination of all cards but trumps from the adversary's hand and also necessitates the shortening of trumps in the declarer's hand to the number held by the adversary. In illustration

South was in a contract for five clubs. Game in either major suit is easy but South had slam ideas because of his fit with North's majors which he never showed. The bidding by South and North went: One club, one spade, two clubs, two hearts, and then four clubs by South. North then felt he had to offer five clubs. South stopped short of slam because of the diamond situation. West led his three top diamonds, the third being trumped South. The declarer entered the North hand by ruffing two heart honors and finessed clubs twice. On the second round of clubs West showed out, disclosing that East's king was protected. The declarer gave up the ghost, conceding a set of one.

"But you could have made five clubs," pointed out North, Mrs. Edna Marlowe, in a rubber game at Bridge House, New York.

"After you trump the diamond, play the ace of spades and then the queen, covering it with the king North. Finesse a club. Lead the king of hearts and take it with the ace. Finesse another club. Cover the jack of hearts with the queen. Lead the jack of spades and trump it. True it will be high, but the trumping will set your clubs down to two, the same number as East's. Now lead the three of hearts to the ten spot.

"Then there will be only two cards in each hand North will have a spade and a heart. East will have the king and queen of clubs. You will have the ace-queen. Lead either the heart or the spade. East will have to trump. You will overruff and then capture East's last club, having lost only two diamonds on the hand."

Albany Lucky Strikes Accept Challenge of The Yellow Jackets

Manager Irving E. Thuroff of the Lucky Strikes, Albany's traveling football team, last night wired acceptance of a challenge from the Kingston Yellow Jackets.

In his message to Charlie Raible, the king bee of the Wasps, Thuroff expressed himself as being anxious to have his gridders lock horns with the Yellow Jackets and welcomed the opportunity to play in Kingston Sunday.

"I think we can take your bunch over," he wired to Raible. "We have plenty of good material and promise you one of the best games (the toughest) you've had this year."

So far the Wasps have smothered three teams in as many weeks and haven't been scored on yet. They outplayed the Newburgh Receptions 6-0, Jamaica Cardinals 13-0 and Watervliet Garnets 20-0.

Manager Raible is proud of his club's record, and so is Coach G. Warren King. They hope to see the Reds Brothers clan take over the Luckies to make it four straight.

The tentative lineup of the Luckies will be as follows: Center, Reilly or Houlihan; guards, Vanderloo, Vorce or Thuroff; tackles, Van Valkenburg and Scott; ends, Schmidtbauer, McCaffrey, Lewis or Reubman, quarterback, Latch; halfbacks, Myers and McCaffrey, fullback, Wilbur.

Two practices will be held by the Yellow Jackets to make ready for the Luckies. The first will be tonight at 7:30 and the other on Thursday at the same hour. Both drills will be in the rear of the Municipal Auditorium.

Middletown High Trims Poughkeepsie

Poughkeepsie High School's football warriors didn't do so well in their game with Middletown High School, played Saturday at Middletown.

The heavier and more experienced Orange county team took the Blue and White into camp to the tune of 22 to 0. Poughkeepsie's trick plays fell flat as the heavy Middies smashed up the interference before it had a chance to form.

It is stated that Coach Reilly, serving his first year at Poughkeepsie, will shake up his entire squad before it meets Newburgh Saturday.

A fancy grade of white rice, what-over the name, has no greater food value than "broken" rice, which may be much cheaper. The higher grades are more attractive when cooked and so command a better price. Brown rice, however, says the Bureau of Home Economics, has both a higher food value and more flavor than white rice, because only the outer husk has been removed, while the bran and the germ portions are retained.

Competitive with large cities have fewer students and more single persons than the surrounding counties. This is true around Glens Falls county, which contains the city of Glens Falls. It is also true of Albany county and the county, but is less true around the city and Glens Falls. Albany county has a large population, but the city of Albany has a large population.

Organized prevention of farm fires in the United States is no longer an old-fashioned affair of quinine squares and describing fire horrors, but is rather an active "do-something" program of education and fire drills not only in schools and public buildings, but also in private homes.

Loughran, Booming Britain's Boxing, Takes A Verbal Crack At Joe Louis

By ROGER D. GREENE

London (AP)—Joe Louis may be hailed generally as the greatest fighter since Jack Johnson, but Tommy Loughran, the veteran "Philadelphia Phantom," doesn't rate America's newest title contender as top.

"Louis is good, all right," Loughran said, arriving here for a series of bouts against England's leading heavyweight, "but he has to do a lot more before he can be thought of in the same category with Dempsey or even Toney."

Conqueror of both Jim Braddock and Max Baer, Loughran declared "I think American sports articles have let this black boy go to the head of a parade."

"Now, even that fight with little boys of winning. His hands have been almost useless for the past year. I'm sure if he'd owned two good hands, he could have told his own against Louis and maybe beaten him."

Tommy Reeves King came off-center of the pugilistic war, though he is, Loughran is called King as the impetus needed to pull British boxing out of the doldrums. Back years of slumping at such draught as the "Fighting Phil" Scott, George Forester and Len Harvey have proved the clients to a point where they stay away from their own exhibition and read warily of such American "hucksters" as the Earl of Bessborough and the "Literary" Larmer, claiming even Muhammad Ali's space training tips with his picture of Bess and Louis, and showing the Earl and Larmer and his Englishmen almost all of the front page.

The English sports writers delight in making a helpful descriptive tapestry of American boxers off their experience but odd enough this year at the London home of the British sports writers.

tivity on the northern front, pointed at two of the next objectives of the Fascist forces—the strategic city of Mahala and the vital railroad—followed a call by Emperor Haile Selassie for an increased army to wage a holy war for recapture of Aksum.

Ethiopia asserted the Italians were sporadically bombing Gerigubi, on the southern front, killing women and children. They reported that the Italians were advancing from the south by the Webbe Shihell Valley, a direct path into the heart of Ethiopia toward Addis Ababa.

Weeping openly at news of the peaceful occupation of Aksum by the Fascist forces on the northern front, he personally instructed the Abuna, or Bishop of the Empire, that a holy war must be proclaimed.

To House Nation

The Abuna, joining the Emperor in tears, promised to spread word of Aksum's fall throughout the land, urging the Coptic Christian Churches to rouse the nation.

Aksum, ancient capital of the empire, is to Ethiopians what Mecca is to Mohammedans.

Emperor Haile Selassie was understood authoritatively to have granted Italian minister, Luigi Vinet-Gigliucci, permission to remain here until Saturday.

Confronted by the minister's insistence that he remain until the consular agents from Mogala arrived, the emperor took this step instead of risking an international incident by removing Count Vinet-Gigliucci by force.

The minister remained a virtual prisoner in the home of Ras Desta Demtu, where he was held incommunicado.

Ethiopia today received the first arms allowed by the League's so-called embargo when 30,000 foreign rifles arrived at Jijiga. Additional shipments are expected from Berbera, which led to a fear that Italian airmen will attempt to bomb the Berbera-Jijiga road.

Receipt of newspaper dispatches from Amara led authorities to admit the deserting of Haile Selassie Gugsa, who was condemned as a national traitor. Reports of other desertions are current, but unconfirmed. Ethiopians asserted that Mussolini is spending millions of lire in attempts to buy off Ethiopian overlords and generals.

The government denied reports of a revolt at Gofjam. It also said that many members of the Jewish Falasha tribe, numbering 75,000, who are generally averse to war are reportedly flocking to the colors.

British Maneuvers

By ALBERT W. WILSON

Alexandria, Egypt, Oct. 15—Great Britain's navy began today its first large maneuvers, off the coast between here and Port Said, seaport at the north end of the Suez Canal on Italy's route to East Africa.

Two aircraft carriers, the Courageous and Glorious, and most of the largest vessels of the fleet which has been crowded into Alexandria's harbor left during the night and this morning for the exercises.

Naval experts said this stretch of the coast would be the first objective of an Italian air or sea attack from Rhodes in the event of a closing of the Suez Canal.

Thirty war vessels were estimated to be participating in the maneuvers, only about 53, besides tenders, remained in the harbor this morning.

A boat trip yesterday through the harbor gave evidence of an amazing massing of war craft.

Although this is one of the largest Mediterranean ports, there was barely space for two big ships to find their way from the outer shipping lanes to the docks.

All were inside a double submarine room except for five destroyers exercising off the historic light house of Pharos.

At least five ships were seen carrying the admirals' red cross on a white background, but officials said there were at least 11 admirals here.

Concentrated bombing of Ethiopia's only railway with the intention of cutting off the line to Harar were reported in special dispatches to the Egyptian press.

The Addis Ababa correspondent of Gihad, organ of Wafd, Egypt's dominant political party, reported that a big attack by the Italian armies is momentarily expected all along the southern front.

Other dispatches quote Haile Selassie as saying he has massed 200,000 men along the line under the best command available to aid a small French police force. The emperor is further quoted as saying the road must be defended at all costs.

A fierce battle at Dajabur, in the vicinity of Jijiga, with Ethiopia victorious, also was reported.

The strongly pro-Ethiopian Egyptian press is jubilant over the British concessions permitting increases in the national army for defense of the Libyan frontier. Four regiments of 2,000 men each are being raised to be added to the army strength of 12,000 troops.

Egyptian newspapers said two regiments have left for Mersa Matruh, 100 miles west of Alexandria, which is expected to be the Anglo-Egyptian second line of defense in the event the Egyptian garrison at Sollat, 200 miles west of Alexandria, should fall in any conflict. The railroad runs only to Mersa Matruh.

4 Italian Bombers

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press)

Alexandria, Egypt, 11:35 p. m., Monday, Oct. 14—Bruno Mussolini, 17-year-old youngest son of Il Duce, had four bullet holes in his plane to show today after a reconnaissance flight over Ethiopian territory.

The young pilot, who suffered with his brother, 19-year-old Leonardo Mussolini, for air service in his father's East African forces, made a survey flight over Mahala, 40 miles south of Addis Ababa and one of the next objectives of the Italian advance.

He discovered the four bullet holes when he flew back from Ethiopia and landed at the airport of this island group, construction point to the Italian colony of Eritrea.

Only then did he realize that his

Proposals to League

London, Oct. 15 (AP)—Any proposals for an Italo-Ethiopian peace desired by Mussolini must be submitted to the League of Nations, it was declared in authoritative quarters today.

This expression of the British viewpoint dismissed reports that yesterday's conference between Premier Laval of France and Sir George Russell Clerk, British ambassador in Paris, was in regard to peace proposals.

They merely discussed aspects of the international situation, the quarters explained, and the British government has no knowledge of such advances for peace, either Laval or Mussolini. Meanwhile the authorities insisted that, contrary to reports, the Anglo-French common front at Geneva is working in perfect collaboration for the speedy restoration of peace.

Dealing with the rumors that the alliance was cracking under the strain, the authorities said the Anglo-French co-operation always was much better than appeared on the surface.

No British approach was made to the United States and Germany by the British, these spokesmen said, to determine what non-members of the League of Nations would do in case of sanctions. That, they said, is League duty, not Britain's.

Swick's Reply

The reply of Fulvio Swick, Italian under secretary for foreign affairs, to a note from Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador to Rome, with respect to the bombing of Addis Ababa and Diddawa, also was disclosed by these sources.

Swick said Italian action in respect to bombing the cities would most likely be determined by whether or not the concentration of troops is effective there. The British are rapidly losing grounds to prove this point, it was pointed out in some quarters, because of the rapid evacuation of their nationals.

Trade between Great Britain and Italy may come to a standstill by the end of this week, although some quarters expressed belief that financial sanctions would require negotiation before they could be put into operation.

As the British cabinet met for discussion of what was expected to be largely domestic problems, this question was debated heavily in political circles. Has the cabinet constitutional power to impose sanctions on Italy without asking permission of Parliament in approval of each separate step?

Those opposing the sanctioning policy of the League of Nations expressed the view the cabinet could not lead support to prevent or future sanction without presenting a "sanctions bill" to Parliament.

They also sought further legislation would be required if the League approved embargoes on imports from Italy and on exports of certain key products to Italy.

If the ministers decide it is necessary to present an enabling bill, an "order in council" might be issued by King George on advice of his privy council—a step which would not require parliament's consent.

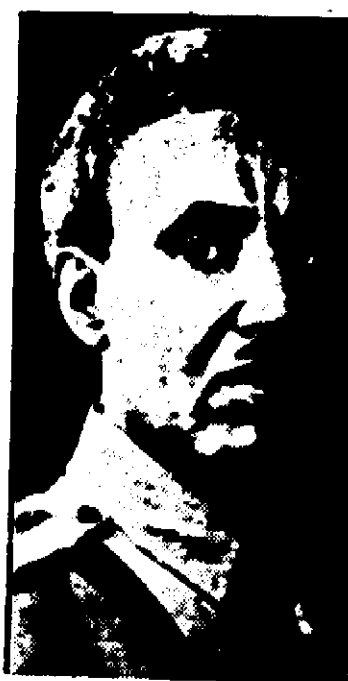

Compound Substances

In compounds there are two compounds, substances, simple and complex, mixed with a powerful oxidizing agent, peroxide nitrate. The reason for the exclusive use of these particular compounds for such a long time lay in the fact that until about 50 years ago peroxide nitrate was the only solid oxidizing agent available in sufficient amount.

The 4-H Clubs

The 4-H clubs or 4-H is a project under the direction of the federal Department of Agriculture, the purpose of which is to stimulate the interest of young boys and girls in farm activities.

The same 4-H stands for head, heart, hand and health, and expresses the fields of interest covered by the organization. Each member takes a pledge for better thinking, more heart in his work, a better time for his health and proper attention to personal health.

Had No Light on His Wagon, Is Arrested

Koppel Avnet of 39 Chambers street was arrested early Monday evening by Frederick Winters of Clinton avenue. Mr. Winters charged that Mr. Avnet was driving his pedicab wagon without a light on it as required by law.

This morning in police court Mr. Avnet pleaded guilty. Mr. Winters, who was present to press the charge, said that he was driving on the Boulevard and narrowly avoided striking the wagon, which he did not observe until he was very close, as the wagon carried no light.

Judge Culliton in suspending sentence on Mr. Avnet warned him that it was a violation of law not to display a light on the wagon one-half hour after sunset.

Murray Friedman of New York city was fined $2 for using license plates issued for another car on his automobile.

Frank Joyce of Albany, arrested for panhandling on Broadway, was sentenced to five days in jail.

ROSSO SAYS ITALIANS DESIRE TO EXPAND

Boston, Oct. 15 (AP)—An Italy that "wants to live, to work, to progress, in short, to expand," was defended by Mussolini's ambassador to the United States, Augusto Rosso, at the national convention of the Sons of Italy.

Eight hundred delegates and their wives applauded last night as Rosso said Italy never would consent to be "treated by the League or by anyone as the equal" of a state which had been unable to comply with the elementary requirements for admission to the League.

In an interview, Rosso, asked if aid was expected from Italians here declared:

"We expect nothing from Italians in this country."
Italians to the last man, he said in his address, were behind Mussolini in this project. Ethiopia, he said, was a problem of life and security which must be solved.

This, he continued, was why Mussolini had sent "our young men to Africa."

"You may disagree with that assumption," Rosso said, "but that is the unanimous and deep-rooted conviction of the people of Italy. And if this conviction be wrong, then it means that not the Italian government alone, but 44 million Italians are mistaken."

The verdict of the League of Nations, Rosso said, was an application of "the letter of the law but not the spirit."

War Formally Declared Against Five Countries

Only five acts formally declaring the existence of a state of war between the United States and a foreign nation have been passed by congress and approved by the President.

On June 18, 1912, a state of war was declared to exist between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the dependencies thereof, and the United States of America and their territories.

Although the federal government never formally declared war against Mexico, on May 12 1946, the senate passed and the President approved a house bill providing for the prosecution of the existing war between the United States and the Republic of Mexico.

On April 25, 1898, between the United States and Spain; April 6, 1917, between the United States of America and the Imperial German government; and eight months later, on December 7, 1917 between the United States and the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian government.

Of course the United States has been engaged in more than these wars since the adoption of the Constitution. But there were no formal declarations of war with the Barbary states, the numerous Indian wars within our borders, and the other minor conflicts in which the army and navy have taken part. Nor was war formally declared against the Confederate states at the outbreak of the Civil war, that war being regarded by the federal government as a domestic conflict.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Canadian Governor Gets

Opinions From Ministry

The governor general of Canada, who is appointed by the king of England as his representative in Canada, is bound by the terms of his commission, and can exercise only such authority as is expressly entrusted him. The Canadian Year Book states that the governor general acts under the advice of his ministry, which is responsible to parliament, and as the acting head of the executive, summons, prorogues, and dissolves parliament, and assents to or reserves bills. In the discharge of these and other executive duties he acts entirely by and with the advice of his ministry.

The royal prerogative of mercy in capital cases, formerly exercised on the governor general's own judgment and responsibility, is exercised pursuant to the advice of the ministry. The practice whereby the governor general served as the medium of communication between the Canadian and the British governments has been given up; direct communication between the Canadian and British governments has been instituted.

Electromagnetic Induction

Beginning his scientific career as assistant to Sir Humphrey Davy in the Royal Institution, London, in 1813, Michael Faraday won recognition as the most outstanding experimentalist of the Nineteenth century in the field of electricity and magnetism. Most notable of his discoveries was that of electromagnetic induction, namely that a magnetic disturbance can produce an electrical disturbance. At about the same time Joseph Henry, working independently in America, discovered the same principle. To this discovery, the converse of that which Oersted had made, may be traced the invention of the dynamo and the power transformer, which laid the foundation for the electric light and power industry of today. In the field of electrical communication his contributions to progress were hardly less noteworthy. The induction coil and the repeating coil trace their origin to his researches. Without these, many of the communication achievements of recent years would have been impossible.

Human Betterment Foundation

The purpose and activities of the Human Betterment Foundation are to investigate the results and possibilities for human betterment by a safe, conservative application of the discoveries made by science, and to give this information to the public. Its first major problem is to promote the investigation of the possibilities of race betterment. The foundation is not designed to take up original scientific research work.

The First Sleeping Car

The first sleeping car was used in 1836 when the Cumberland Valley railroad of Pennsylvania installed a sleeping car service between Harrisburg and Chambersburg. The sleeping car was an adaptation of an ordinary day coach to sleeping requirements. The first fundamental improvement came in 1854, when George Pullman remodelled two Chicago & Alton coaches into sleeping cars.

Preferred Pronunciations

Nearly all preferred pronunciations have a reason for the preference which real leathers include in their dictation. When we note that the allies are those who ally, the reason for the accent is made plain. Then, precedence is the state of those who precede, so there is no excuse for prece-dence.

Where Beauty Rules

From the interior of Arles, France, has been the home of beautiful women. It is one place where feminine beauty is so general that it becomes commonplace.

Dustiness

There are times when dusty dusts are eyes, but the known fact, well that when evening falls, we shall return to her and it is the dust which must be done. She is a very nice girl, but the dust will also be the dust to be done.

Supreme Court to Hear Grand Jury, Oct 28

The October term of supreme court was adjourned Monday afternoon until October 28, at which time the report of the grand jury will be received.

An unsuccessful attempt to get some case ready for trial finally brought the trial term to a halt. Justice Schirick has made several efforts to get the term started but settlements or postponements of cases finally resulted in his adjourning the term rather than bring the jurors back only to have no work ready.

Two actions in negligence brought against the city of Kingston were adjourned until the December term. They are actions brought by Frederick Lemister and Silas T. Beatty and were put over the term due to the press of business which Corporation Counsel Matthew V. Cahill finds himself involved in through the junior high school situation. A few days ago the board of education, after failing to get what was considered a fair price on the O'Reilly property, voted to begin condemnation proceedings. This will provide a large amount of work for the corporation counsel and must be commenced at once. A. J. Cook, who appeared for the defendants, agreed to have the cases go over until December under the circumstances.

Hunting in Limits Of City a Violation

Under the provisions of the city charter it is a violation of law to hunt within the city limits and the discharge of firearms within the city limits constitutes a violation. Residents of Albany avenue whose properties abut on the Esopus creek lowlands have been accustomed to feeding the squirrels and pheasants that make the lowlands their home, and they have lodged complaints with the police regarding the shooting of the game by hunters.

Monday afternoon the police arrested Kenneth Ostrander of 19 St. James street for discharging a firearm on the lowlands. This morning in police court Judge Culliton called the young man's attention to the fact that it was a violation of law to discharge a firearm in the city limits and advised him to find other spots if he desired to hunt. Following the warning the court imposed a suspended sentence.

Home Industry Condemned.
Washington, Oct. 15 (AP).—A sweeping condemnation of industrial homework was voiced today by the women's bureau of the labor department which estimated that such labor is carried on in at least 77,000 homes "where poverty prevents the development of any bargaining power." Asserting that state regulation of homework "has been mainly for the purpose of safeguarding the consumer rather than of protecting the homeworkers," the bureau announced a program of "mass action" in the effort to abolish this industry.
